EDITOR'S CHOICE

My Trust offers modern luxury in a classically styled package

Launched in 2008, Hakvoort's My Trust was built over four years to impeccable Dutch standards and her crew of 10 keep her in immaculate condition. The main deck is home to a cosy saloon and formal dining area. With dark wood panelling, plush blue velvet seating and even a fireplace, the feel is of a sophisticated beach house in the Hamptons. Although the interiors are styled by Dutch designer Felix Buytendijk, the use of blue denim fabric, flag print chair coverings and artworks of J Class yachts gives her a touch of classic Americana.

The huge master suite lies forward, complete with office, a large bathroom with expansive views and an infrared sauna. The details make this yacht – for instance, the cross trainer sunk into the cabin sole for taller guests and the mist of water to cool you beneath the arch on the sun deck.

The four guest cabins are found on the lower deck; two doubles and two twin/double convertibles. Every cabin is equipped with Crestron controls and Kaleidescape entertainment systems and the fully integrated system allows guests to use the WiFi or view the navigation charts from the comfort of their cabins.

You can unwind on the bridge deck in the informal seating and large outside dining areas, as well as enjoying a drink at the bar. Alternatively, cool off in the forward seating and sunbathing areas. For even more sun, the open sun deck, with bar and six-person spa pool, lets guests get their fix of the rays – or not, by retreating under the retractable shade.

From the highly experienced crew [who speak 17 languages between them, with some trained in Shiatsu and Thai massage], to the fine detailing and beautiful joinery, My Trust offers plenty of ways to relax in understated style. Great engineering and expertise underpins an effortlessly elegant yacht.
