Diana completes Blu series

Diana Yacht Design presents coupe

Having already presented to the world their DIANA Blu Flybridge, the eponymous Dutch design house has now released details of a new 28m coupe version of the concept, completing the Blu series.

The Blu coupe is based on the same naval platform as the flybridge, but with some minor changes, such as a more forward-slanting transom, which matches the slant of the large main salon windows.

The coupe will accommodate eight guests in four en-suite cabins with a traditionally placed owner's suite amidships. Engine specifications have not been decided yet and DIANA Yacht Design were in the process of finding a builder at the time of writing.
