Campbell Bay

Campbell Bay is a steel-hulled, Dutch-built motor yacht with an Andrew Winch interior. The Dutch firm Diana Yacht Design performed the naval architecture on this incredibly quiet MCA-classed motoryacht. A creative and well-made fountain over the Jacuzzi, a large bar and plenty of entertainment space make the sundeck the place to be when the sun goes down. The skylounge departs from the classic motif of the interior with a Havana-club decor. Captain Rusty Allen has worked for Campbell Bay's owners—Peggy and Stanley Bey—for over ten years and has cruised from Alaska to the Med. Rusty was previously captain of the Forbes family's yacht The Highlander. Chef Ivano Potso Gelsomino is a native of Bergamo, Italy, and mixes Italian with any culinary desire his guests might have.

Blue Attraction

Blue Attraction is a steel-hulled, Dutch-built motoryacht with an interior by Diana Yacht Design. Her top-notch crew keeps the interior clean, comfortable and up-to-date. For those who love water play, a 22' Novurania tender, 12' Zodiac and twin waverunners are all on hand. English Captain Nick Flashman joined the merchant navy at sixteen and spent 11 years sailing around the world in commercial shipping. In 1990 he joined the 140' sailing yacht Cyclos III and has stayed in the yachting industry ever since. Australian Chef Nardine Maree Jones has a Cordon-bleu certificate. Nardine can cater to everyone's palates and is able to produce tasty meals and elaborate presentations. Her chocolate cake is a must. Stewardess Louise Armstrong joined the Blue Attraction team last year. "Lou" began working in the industry five years ago and has crewed on the Caribbean charter yachts Sunrise, Leander and Phocea.
